Bush asks Brazilian President: "Do you have blacks, too?"

During a recent meeting with Brazilian President Fernando Henrique Cardoso, President Bush stunned the 71 year old Cardoso not far into the conversation when he asked him, "Do you have blacks, too?"

Fortunately, Condoleezza Rice, national security advisor, was present. Noticing how astonished President Cardoso was, she jumped in to save the Brazilian from having to answer by telling her boss: "Mr. President, Brazil probably has more blacks than the USA. Some say it's the Country with the most blacks outside Africa."

The incident was witnessed by the White House press corps and was reported outside the U.S. A May 19, 2002 article in Der Spiegel quipped: "It is said, that, before September 11, George W. Bush thought the Taliban were a Bavarian brass band. Now, thanks to his comprehensive knowledge, the most powerful man in the world has got into hot water again."

Freelance videos ask the hard questions on September 11 events

In the weeks following the "terrorist" attacks of September 11, many video presentations and lectures began to circulate within the new consciousness network (NCN) concerning the events. Without exception, all of these videos focused on much of the information and evidence that have gone unreported in the mainstream media.

Now that the Senate is conducting investigations into "intelligence failures," it is a good time to review the alternative perspectives available regarding these horrific events.

The latest video to surface comes from Professor Griff, of the rap group Public Enemy, with his presentation entitled "9-11: the Unholy War on Terrorism."

The following is an interview with Prof. Griff, followed by a brief summary of the other videos available on the subject.

Q. You recently lectured at the Hall of Maat in Decatur. The lecture is titled "9-11 Is A Joke." Tell us what you talk about.

FROM THE EDITOR:

Now that we have your attention... We need your support.

By all indications, our premier issue was a definite success! Thank you all for your wonderful comments and responses.

In this issue, we conclude the African Avatars report with the excerpt, "The Avatar Simeon Toko," from the book, "The True Third Secret of Fatima Revealed and the Return of Christ." We continue to seek more information about this incredible but apparently true story.

Also, we are including a second installment of, "The Real Story of Money Control Over America." Because of space considerations we could not print the rest of the article in its entirety. We will make it available on our web site and possibly run a third installment in our next issue if it seems appropriate.

However, the main focus of this issue, as you may have guessed, is the "War on Terrorism" as a result of the events of September 11, 2001.

Now that the Senate is conducting investigations into "intelligence failures," it is a good time to review the alternative perspectives available regarding these horrific events.

Towards that end, we have attempted to bring together alternative views from different perspectives. Amazingly, (or maybe not so amazingly), the central alternative theme seems to be that the "terrorist attack" was an inside job.

Indeed, Rep. Cynthia McKinney was vilified in the media for even suggesting that an investigation into the events was needed. Considering the allegations of others on this subject, and the questions they raise, her comments and requests were quite reasonable.

As always, but especially in this matter, we urge you to get information from many sources before forming a firm opinion or coming to conclusions about information you find in this newsletter or anywhere else. The truth is out there.

- The Editor

Let me get right to the point. We have put our heart, soul, and our very livelihood on the line in order to bring this information to you, the conscious community.

As of June 30, 2002, postal rates will increase. Also, as we get more information, the size of the newsletter will have to increase. So, in a nutshell, it will cost us much more to print and mail this publication than we anticipated.

However, rather than turning this into your typical rag and start to charge you for what we said would be free, spirit has suggested a different approach.

We set a retail price for the publication at $3. Although we will send the newsletter to our complete mailing list for free, we ask that those who receive it send in a $3 OR MORE donation to help us defray the costs. Essentially, by donating after you receive an issue you insure the next issue is financed.

We ask anyone who receives this newsletter and appreciates the information it contains to make a donation to ensure that it continues to go out to all that request it.

Send donations to:
Sirius Times,

You may continue to support us by advertising in the newsletter and by purchasing the video tapes, books and other products offered throughout each issue.

We are currently setting up a dealer/wholesale program for the video tapes. For more information call 404-344-6862.

A "CONSERVATIVE" VIEW OF 9-11 FROM THE NET: There were NO Arab "hijackers" on the planes

With all of the good things that you do in exposing and analyzing impositions on and destructions of whatever freedoms that we have left, why do you participate in the 9/11 cover-up by giving credence to discussions about who knew what and when and who warned whom?

Why doesn't anyone have the guts to just come out and say what many people know:

- There were NO Arab "hijackers on the planes (I have the passenger lists and have reviewed them from more than one source);
- the flight school propaganda was just an attempt at advance cover-up for guys to whom such a mission could not even be entrusted;
- the planes were controlled remotely from the ground by technology that has been around for years; the planes were used to cover-up for the internal explosives planted previously to be detonated at the "right time."
- Bin Laden had nothing to do with it, but has been a long-time CIA agent who was used as a convenient scapegoat to "justify" actions by the ruling elite to further its agenda of imposing a worldwide police state that would also include the US;
- Twenty-four of Bin Laden's family members were secretly escorted out of the country after 9/11 events under federal protection, which would not have happened if he had been the real culprit;

Science expert to Senate investigators: Consider overlooked anthrax warnings along with 9-11 attacks

SANDPOINT, ID – A leading health science expert has linked the anthrax mailings to Sept. 11 attacks, and urged Senate investigators to consider overlooked evidence that suggests FBI and CIA incompetence or complicity in a cover-up. Dr. Leonard G. Horowitz accuses intelligence officials of neglecting critical information that might have prevented the anthrax mailings and brought sought terrorists to justice.

In a letter to Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, the Harvard degreed bioterrorism investigator referred to several failed efforts to get the FBI to attend to "critical evidence" in the anthrax mailings which theoretically linked the perpetrators to the Sept. 11 attacks. One week before the first anthrax mailings was reported by the press, the doctor presented agency officials with incriminating documents implicating several collaborating military industrialist and multinational drug firms, currently under FBI suspicion. The intelligence predated, and virtually predicted, a conspiracy to commit anthrax-related crimes. The motives for this and Sept. 11, the doctor believes, are much the same. Both attacks altered public opinion and prompted legislation in support of companies seeking lucrative government contracts for thousands of items ranging from costly vaccines to defence technologies mainly benefiting the chief suspects.

Rep. McKinney feels vindicated after FBI revelations

The following is a statement by Rep. Cynthia McKinney made after revelations of warnings received by the FBI concerning possible terrorist activity prior to the events of September 11, 2001. -The Editor.

Several weeks ago, I called for a congressional investigation into what warnings the Bush Administration received before the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. I was derided by the White House, right wing talk radio, and spokespersons for the military industrial complex as a conspiracy theorist. Even my patriotism was questioned because I dared to suggest that Congress should conduct a full and complete investigation into the most disastrous intelligence failure in American history. Georgia Senator Zell Miller even went so far as to characterize my call for hearings as "dangerous, loony and irresponsible."

Today's revelations that the administration, and President Bush, were given months of notice that a terrorist attack was a distinct possibility points out the critical need for a full and complete congressional investigation.

It now becomes clear why the Bush Administration has been vigorously opposing congressional hearings. The Bush Administration has been engaged in a conspiracy of silence. If committed and patriotic people had not been pushing for disclosure today's revelations would have been hidden by the White House.

Because I love my country, because I am a patriot, and because the American people deserve the truth, I believe it would be dangerous, loony and irresponsible not to hold full congressional hearings on any warnings the Bush Administration had before the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

Ever since I came to Congress in 1992, there are those who have been trying to silence my voice. I've been told to "sit down and shut up" over and over again. Well, I won't sit down and I won't shut up until the full and unvarnished truth is placed before the American people.

- Bush slipped up twice in public speeches and admitted seeing the first plane hit, which he did by virtue of cameras set up by the federal agents to give him a direct feed in Florida, where he feigned surprise, horror and sorrow;
- the whole deal was an inside one; anyone who knows anything about demolitions knows how the buildings went down in NYC, DC and OKC (in 1995), where federally-programmed patsy McVeigh drove a truck near the building to cover for the internal explosives that were not set by him. Keating, the local police and fire depts, and, of course, the feds knew exactly what was happening.

I could go on but maybe I am wasting my time with just another alleged "conservative" group that has been put out there to help the cover-up, along with guys like Limbaugh, worldnetdaily, Liddy, North, O'Reilly, et. al.

The Real Story of the Money-Control Over America

Part 2- by Sheldon Emry

EDITOR'S NOTE: Thanks to our readers for the overwhelming response to the first part of this article on the real story of money. The second installment gets into the finer details of how the debt-money system operates and makes it very plain about how we all are affected.

The Interest Amount is Never Created

The only way new money (which is not true money, but is "credit" representing a debt), goes into circulation in America is when it is borrowed from Bankers. When the State and people borrow large sums, we seem to prosper.

However, the Bankers "create" only the amount of the principal of each loan, never the extra amount needed to pay the interest. Therefore, the new money never equals the new debt added. The amounts needed to pay the interest on loans is not "created," and therefore does not exist!

Under this kind of a system, where new debt always exceeds the new money no matter how much or how little is borrowed, the total debt increasingly outstrips the amount of money available to pay the debt. The people can never, ever get out of debt!

An example will show the viciousness of this usury-debt system with its "built-in" shortage of money.

If $60,000 is Borrowed, $255,931.20 Must Be Paid Back

When a citizen goes to a Banker to borrow $60,000 to purchase a home or a farm, the Bank clerk has the borrower agree to pay back the loan plus interest. At 14% interest for 30 years, the Borrower must agree to pay $710.92 per month for a total of $255,931.20.

The clerk then requires the citizen to assign to the Banker the right of ownership of the property if the Borrower does not make the required payments. The Bank clerk then gives the Borrower a $60,000 check or a $60,000 deposit slip crediting the Borrower's checking account with $60,000.

The Borrower then writes checks to the builder, subcontractors, etc., who in turn write checks. $60,000 of new "check-book" money is thereby added to "money in circulation."

However, and this is the fatal flaw in a usury system, the only new money created and put into circulation is the amount of the loan, $60,000. The money to pay the interest is NOT created, and therefore was NOT added to "money in circulation."

Even so, this Borrower (and those who follow him in ownership of the property) must earn and TAKE OUT OF CIRCULATION $255,931, almost $200,000 MORE than he put IN CIRCULATION when he borrowed the original $60,000.

(By the way, it is this interest which cheats all families out of nicer homes. It is not that they can't afford them; it is because the Banker's usury forces them to pay for 4 homes to get one!)

Every new loan puts the same process in operation. Each borrower adds a small sum to the total money supply when he borrows, but the payments on the loan (because of interest) then deduct a much LARGER sum from the total money supply.

There is therefore no way all debtors can pay off the money-lenders. As they pay the principal and interest, the money in circulation disappears.

All they can do is struggle against each other, borrowing more and more from the money-lenders each generation.

The money-lenders (Bankers), who produce nothing of value, slowly, then more rapidly, gain a death grip on the land, buildings, and present and future earnings of the whole working population. Proverbs 22:7 has come to pass in America. The borrowers have become the servants of the lenders. No wonder God Almighty forbids interest on loans.

Small Loans Do the Same Thing

If you haven't quite grasped the impact of the above, let us consider a small auto loan for 3 years at 18% interest.

Step 1: Citizen borrows $5,000 and pays it into circulation (it goes to the dealer, factory, miner, etc.) and signs a note agreeing to pay the Banker $6,500.

Step 2: Citizen pays $180 per month of his earnings to the Banker. In 3 years he will take OUT of circulation $1,500 more than he put IN circulation.

Every loan of Banker "created" money (credit) causes the same thing to happen. Since this has happened millions of times since 1913 (and continues today), you can see why America has gone from a prosperous, debt-free nation to a debt-ridden nation where practically every home, farm and business is paying usury-tribute to some Banker.

The usury-tribute to the Bankers on personal, local, State and Federal debt totals more than the combined earnings of 25% of the working people. Soon it will be 50% and continue up.

SIR JOSIAH STAMP,

(President of the Bank of England in the 1920's, the second richest man in Britain):

"Banking was conceived in iniquity and was born in sin. The Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create deposits, and with the flick of the pen they will create enough deposits to buy it back again. However, take it away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine will disappear and they ought to disappear, for this would be a happier and better world to live in. But, if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, let them continue to create deposits."

This is Why Bankers Prosper in Good Times or Bad

In the millions of transactions made each year like those above, little actual currency changes hands, nor is it necessary that it do so.

95% of all "cash" transactions in the U.S. are by check, so the Banker is perfectly safe in "creating" that so-called "loan" by writing the check or deposit slip, not against actual money, but AGAINST YOUR PROMISE TO PAY IT BACK!

The cost to him is paper, ink and a few dollars in salaries and office costs for each transaction. It is "check-kiting" on an enormous scale. The profits increase rapidly, year after year, as shown below.

The Cost To You? Eventually, Everything!

In 1910 the U.S. Federal debt was only $1 billion, or $12.40 per citizen. State and local debts were practically non-existent.

By 1920, after only 6 years of Federal Reserve shenanigans, the Federal debt had jumped to $24 billion, or $228 per person.

In 1960 the Federal debt reached $284 billion, or $1,575 per citizen and State and local debts were mushrooming.

By 1981 the Federal debt passed $1 trillion and was growing exponentially as the Banker's tripled the interest rates. State and local debts are now MORE than the Federal, and with business and personal debts totalled over $6 trillion, 3 times the value of all land and buildings in America.

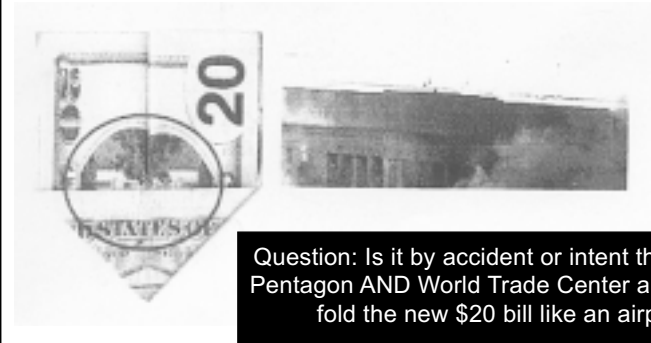

If we signed over to the money-lenders all of America

Things that make you go, “Hmmm?”

1. Fold a $20 bill in half so that you see the top half of the reverse side.

3. Fold the right half so that the burning Pentagon is revealed.

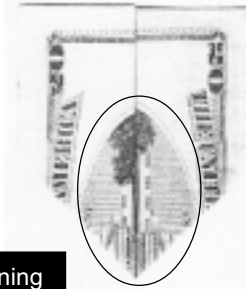

Question: Is it by accident or intent that the both a burning Pentagon AND World Trade Center are revealed when you fold the new $20 bill like an airplane? Hmmm?

Proof of Conspiracy? Prophecy? Maybe not. But, it's still fun to show this to your friends and watch that "Hey? Wait a minute?" look appear on their face. For the full gallery of "currency coincidences" go to www.glennbeck.com

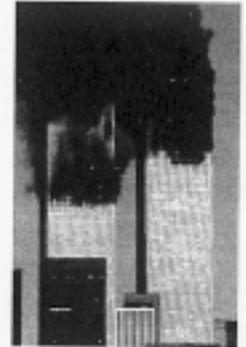

2. Fold the left half away from you as shown.

4. Flip the bill over to see the World Trade Center.

we would still owe them 2 more Americas (plus their usury, of course!)

However, they are too cunning to take title to everything. They will instead leave you with some "illusion of ownership" so you and your children will continue to work and pay the Bankers more of your earnings in ever-increasing debts.

The "establishment" has captured our people with their ungodly system of usury and debt as certainly as if they had marched in with a uniformed army.

For The Gamblers Among My Readers

To grasp the truth that periodic withdrawal of money through interest payments will inexorably transfer all wealth in the nation to the receiver of interest, imagine yourself in a poker or dice game where everyone must buy the chips (the medium of exchange) from a "banker" who does not risk chips in the game, but watches the table and every hour reaches in and takes 10% to 15% of all the chips on the table.

As the game goes on, the amount of chips in the possession of each player will go up and down with his "luck." However, the TOTAL number of chips available to play the game (carry on trade and business) will decrease rapidly.

The game will get low on chips, and some will run out. If they want to continue to play, they must buy or borrow them from the "banker."

The "banker" will sell (lend) them ONLY if the player signs a "mortgage" agreeing to give the "banker" some real property (car, home, farm, business, etc.) if he cannot make periodic payments to pay back all of the chips plus some EXTRA ones (interest). The payments must be made on time, whether he wins (makes a profit) or not.

It is easy to see that no matter how skillfully they play, eventually the "banker" will end up with all of his original chips back, and except for the very best players, the rest, if they stay in long enough, will lose to the "banker" their homes, their farms, their businesses, perhaps even their cars, watches, rings, and the shirts off their backs!

Our real-life situation is MUCH WORSE than any poker game. In a poker game none is forced to go into debt, and anyone can quit at any time and keep whatever he still has.

But in real life, even if we borrow little ourselves from the Bankers, the local, State, and Federal governments borrow billions in our name, squander it, then confiscate our earnings from us and pay it back to the Bankers with interest.

We are forced to play the game, and none can leave except by death. We pay as long as we live, and our children pay after we die. If we cannot pay, the same government sends the police to take our property and give it to the Bankers.

The Bankers risk nothing in the game; they just collect their percentage and "win it all." In Las Vegas and at other gambling centers, all games are "rigged" to pay the owner a percentage, and they rake in millions.

The Federal Reserve Bankers' "game" is also rigged, and it pays off in billions!

In recent years Bankers added real "cards" to their game. "Credit" cards are promoted as a convenience and a great boon to trade. Actually, they are ingenious devices by which Bankers collect 2% to 5% of every retail sale from the seller and 18% interest from buyers. A real "stacked" deck!

Yes, It's Political, Too

Democrat, Republican, and Independent voters who have wondered why politicians always spend more tax money than they take in should now see the reason. When they begin to study our "debt-money" system, they soon realize that these politicians are not the agents of the people but are the agents of the Bankers, for whom they plan ways to place the people further in debt.

It takes only a little imagination to see that if Congress had been "creating," and spending or issuing into circulation the necessary increase in the money supply, THERE WOULD BE NO NATIONAL DEBT, and the over $4 Trillion of other debts would be practically non-existent.

Since there would be no ORIGINAL cost of money except printing, and no CONTINUING costs such as interest, Federal taxes would be almost nil.

Money, once in circulation, would remain there and go on serving its purpose as a medium of exchange for generation after generation and century after century, just as coins do now, with NO payments to the Bankers whatever!

Mounting Debts and Wars

But instead of peace and debt-free prosperity, we have ever-mounting debt and periodic wars.

We as a people are now ruled by a system of Banker-owned Mammon that has usurped the mantle of government, disguised itself as our legitimate government, and set about to pauperize and control our people.

It is now a centralized, all-powerful political apparatus whose main purposes are promoting war, spending the peoples' money, and propagandizing to perpetuate itself in power.

Our two large political parties have become its servants. The various departments of government its spending agencies, and the Internal Revenue its collection agency.

Unknown to the people, it operates in close cooperation with similar apparatuses in other nations, which are also disguised as "governments." Some, we are told, are friends. Some, we are told, are enemies.

"Enemies" are built up through international manipulations and used to frighten the American people into going billions of dollars more into debt to the Bankers for "military preparedness," "foreign aid to stop communism," "minority rights," etc.

Citizens, deliberately confused by brainwashing propaganda, watch helplessly while our politicians give our food, goods, and money to Banker-controlled alien governments under the guise of "better relations" and "easing tensions."

Our Banker-controlled government takes our finest and bravest sons and sends them into foreign wars with obsolete equipment and inadequate training, where tens of thousands are murdered, and hundreds of thousands are crippled. Other thousands are morally corrupted, addicted to drugs, and infected with venereal and other diseases, which they bring back to the United States.

When the "war" is over, we have gained nothing, but we are

HORACE GREELEY:

"While boasting of our noble deeds were careful to conceal the ugly fact that by an iniquitous money system we have nationalized a system of oppression which, though more refined, is not less cruel than the old system of chattel slavery.

scores of billions of dollars more in debt to the Bankers, which was the reason for the "war" in the first place!

And There's More

The profits from these massive debts have been used to erect a complete and almost hidden economic and political colossus over our nation. They keep telling us they are trying to do us "good," when in truth they work to bring harm and injury to our people.

These would-be despots know it is easier to control and rob an ill, poorly-educated and confused people than it is a healthy and intelligent population, so they deliberately prevent real cures for diseases, they degrade our educational systems, and they stir up social and racial unrest.

For the same reason they favor drug use, alcohol, racial intermarriage, sexual promiscuity, abortion, pornography, and crime. Everything which debilitates the minds and bodies of the people is secretly encouraged, as it makes the people less able to oppose them or even to understand what is being done to them.

Family, morals, love of Country, the Christian religion, all that is honorable is being swept away, while they try to build their new, subservient man.

Our new "rulers" are trying to change our whole racial, social, religious, and political order, but they will not change the debt-money economic system by which they rob and rule.

Our people have become tenants and "debt-slaves" to the Bankers and their agents in the land our fathers conquered. It is conquest through the most gigantic fraud and swindle in the history of mankind.

And we remind you again: The key to their wealth and power over us is their ability to create "money" out of nothing and lend it to us at interest. If they had not been allowed to do that, they would never have gained secret control of our nation. How true Solomon's words are:

"The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender"

(Proverbs 22:7).

God Almighty warned in the Bible that one of the curses which would come upon His People for disobeying His Laws was:

"The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee very high; and thou shalt come down very low. He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him; he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail." [Deut. 28: 44-45]

Most of the owners of the largest banks in America are of Eastern European ancestry and connected with the Rothschild European banks. Has that warning come to fruition in America?

Let us now consider the correct method of providing the medium of exchange (money) needed by our people.

Fragile Beginnings

Simeon Toko was born on 24 February 1918 in a village in northern Angola (the Tsafon of Psalm 48:3), portentously named Sadi Banza Zulu Mongo ("Village of the Celestial Mountain"). The newborn emerged from his mother's womb into a very hostile environment.

The baby Simeon Toko was born a mere inches from sickness and famine and plague and death, and many leagues from safety. There was not much reason for a baby to want to live, and much against it.

The infant Toko caught smallpox. He was so badly affected by it that villagers thought the hand of the Almighty Father alone saved his life. He was left with the unpleasant marring of smallpox scars on his face.

Not long after Simeon's birth, a missionary at a Baptist Missionary Society, based in Angola, had a dream. He dreamed that a Great King had been born in the region under his ministry. He decided to go looking for this baby.

Requesting guidance from the Holy Spirit, he came to the baby Simeon Toko. Staring at an infant so rachitic, like a "weak and tender plant", and with so blemished a little face, he shook his head. Doubt had come to stay. He asked one or two questions and left, feeling victimized by his dream and the voice that had led him there.

A Powerful Mission

In 1949, Simeon attended an international conference of Protestants in Leopoldville (currently called Kinshasa). During this event, the ceremonial masters asked three Africans from Angola to pray. Those selected were Gaspar de Almeida, Jesse Chiulo Chipenda and Simeon Toko. Simeon Toko asked in his public prayer that the Holy Spirit manifest in Africa to put an end to the abuses of the colonial powers.

Toko became a dedicated member of the Baptist Church in Itaga. He formed a singing choir of 12 people. Instantly this choir became famous, and from 12 members it grew to hundreds. At each of the choir performances, whether at their church or while visiting another church, the Holy ghost manifested with such power that white missionaries suspected young Toko of possessing black-magic powers. Jealously, the missionaries summoned him to abandon his "dark practices". He responded to them by saying: "But if we are praying to the same God, how come when I pray, and there is manifestation of the Holy Spirit, you accuse me of sorcery? Is it because I am an African that my prayers couldn't possibly be answered? Does the Holy Spirit discriminate against Africans, too?" (See 1 Samuel 10:10).

On 25 July 1949, Simeon and 35 members of his choir met on a street called Mayenge, at the house of a man named V a n g a Ambrosio. The choir began to sing, waiting for the time to pray. Shortly before midnight, Simeon Toko lifted his eyes to the sky and he addressed this prayer to his Father: "Father, I know you always answer my prayers. Now look; consider these sheep you have sent me. This duty is so immense that without the Holy Spirit, the Comforter, we will never be able to achieve what you intended. The prayer I addressed to you three years ago, didn't you hear it?"

At precisely midnight, a strong wind shook the house and the Holy Spirit possessed everyone at the prayer meeting, with the exception of a man called Sansao Alphose, the choir leader. God let him remain in an ordinary frame of mind so that he could write down the testimonials and miracles taking place before his dumbfounded eyes. Many in the group were speaking in tongues.

Some saw heavenly light and heard celestial voices; others were able to communicate clearly with people several kilometers from where the prayer was taking place.

The excitement about the miracles that happened at this new Pentecost led Simeon Toko's followers to spread all over town and start preaching the building of God's Kingdom. This attracted the attention of Belgian colonial authorities, who viewed the activity as a threatening commotion.

Within about three months, the police began jailing the preachers. They were jailed and prosecuted as promptly as were the Kimbanguists, the followers of Simeon Toko's Messenger, Simon Kimbangu -- who himself was imprisoned from 1921 until his death in 1951. Some were beheaded, burned alive in their homes, drowned in the river or shot without being prosecuted. Finally, the colonialists decided to deport them. The wives, husbands and children were separated from their families and homes by hundreds and even thousands of kilometers.

When miracles started taking place among the new followers of "Kimbangu," the Belgian authorities tried to suffocate this new Messianic group at once.

On 22 October 1949, Simeon Toko and 3,000 of his companions were put into two different jails, Ofiltra and Ndolo. After three months in the jails, a decree was passed to deport them out of the country. This is when Simeon started revealing Himself.

The Belgian administrator of the jail in Ndolo was named Pirote. He abused the "Tokoist" prisoners, hurling racist insults. He always ended with: "Filthy nigger, you're going back to nigger country in Angola!"

Tired of the abuse, Simeon Toko replied sharply to Pirote, "Know that if there is a stranger here, it is you! To show you that I am home, the day you make the injustice of deporting me from Belgian Congo, I'll have you carrying my bags alongside me!" Simeon Toko held up both hands, spread out his fingers, and told the abusive Belgian to count them. He said: "I give 10 years to the Belgians, not one more or less, to leave this country!"

No one at that time comprehended these sibylline words. However, the disciples of Simeon Toko understood later: the day they were deported, Pirote fell dead. He was gripped with an apparent heart attack while working in his office, and died as suddenly as though a bullet had struck him squarely.

As for the other mysterious statement made by Simeon Toko: 10 years later, in 1960, the Belgians were obliged to leave their rich colony of Congo. But to impel this event, Simeon Toko "unleashed his army." This incredible story is very well known throughout central Africa, and will be reported in greater detail in another book. The event was witnessed by thousands of people on 4 January 1959. Some of the author's own relatives were there, but so are there thousands of citizens of the city of Kinshasa, who witnessed it on that day, alive at this writing. January 4th is now a public holiday in Kinshasa and commemorates this event.

Kinshasa was called Leopoldville. On that day, the "Cherubim and Seraphim" appeared and stood against the Belgian colonial army. The citizens of Leopoldville saw an army of about a thousand very small men, about the size of children or dwarfs, with very muscular, imposing bodies.

Each of these diminutive human-looking creatures showed great strength; for example, a witness saw one of them flip a five-ton truck over with one arm! The Belgian soldiers fired at these little brown angels to no effect. Terrified, the colonial army was thrown into confusion. The little men disappeared as suddenly as they had appeared.

One year after this amazing mass apparition, the Democratic Republic of Congo was a new independent country.

More Persecutions and Miracles

After being deported and arriving in Angola, the real tribulations of the “man of sorrow acquainted with grief and sufferings” were to start. Never again would Simeon Toko rest. His life would be a string of non-stop attempts to kill him to prevent his Mission.

Let us follow what he experienced, from Leopoldville, where he was unjustly incarcerated, to Angola. While incarcerated in Angola, the Portuguese authorities deported him:

1. to the Colonato of Vale do Loge, in the municipality of Bembe, northern Angola;
2. from Bembe to Waba Caconda;
3. from Caconda to Hoque, 30 Kilometers off San da Bandeira;
4. from San da Bandeira to Waba Caconda again;
5. from Caconda to Cassinga, Vila Artur de Paiva;
6. from Cassinga to Jau, in Chibia's canton;
7. from Chibia, back to San da Bandeira;
8. from San da Bandeira to Mocamedes, in the municipality of Porto Alexandre, or, more precisely, at Ponta Albina.
9. from Ponta Albina to Luanda, the capital of Angola.

The objectives of these deportations were to reduce Simeon Toko's influence and to dismantle his church. Contrarily, everywhere he and his followers were sent, they indoctrinated even more and more members into the belief of (what the Portuguese called) “Tokoism.” In the end, the Portuguese authorities decided to use their last measure: “Simeon Toko delenda [must be destroyed].”

Thus, when he was sent to slavery in an agricultural field in Canconda in southern Angola, his head was offered for a price. Two Portuguese foremen, excited by the reward, decided to take their chance. They put a plan into action to murder Simeon Toko.

During a stay in Angola in 1994, we collected the testimony of Pastor Adelino Canhandi, who was a cook at the Caconda agricultural compound. He saw what happened.

Busy with cooking, he heard a voice calling him: “Canhandi, Canhandi, come here.” It was Simeon Toko. Once outside, surprised and curious, Toko told him “to stand there and be watchful. Once again, the Son of Man will be tested.” Strange words in particular for Canhandi, who was not then a Christian and didn't understand the term or what Simeon Toko wanted of him. Curious, he watched.

One of the Portuguese foremen showed up and hailed Simeon Toko: “hey Simeon, you see that tractor over there? There are weeds clogging the sower. Go clean them out!” Submissively, the docile prisoner crawled under the engine to fix it. When he was under the engine, the foreman, sitting in the driver's seat, started it up, which automatically activated the rotating blades of the seed sower. Simeon Toko's body was instantly severed into several pieces.

Terrified, Canhandi stood frozen to the spot, watching. The foreman shifted into reverse to back up and check the damage. A second foreman, who was in service that day, flashed a victory sign, indicating that they had succeeded.

Then the unbelievable happened. Before Canhandi and the two Portuguese accomplices, the body of Simeon Toko recomposed itself! Simeon Toko stood up! Canhandi could not believe his eyes. The Portuguese ran away in terror.

The Vatican and the Avatar

His followers were once again bewildered when they found out that two top-level emissaries had been dispatched by Pope John XXIII to Angola to meet Simeon Toko and deliver a personal message to him. One of the emissaries was unfortunate to fall ill with dysentery when he arrived in Luanda and wound up in a hospital. The other was received by Simeon Toko, and he said to him: “I am an emissary of Pope John XXIII, who personally mandated me and my colleague to come and ask you a single question: “Who are you?”

Let us bear in mind that the year was 1962, two years after the fateful date when the Vatican had instructions to make public the Third Secret of Fatima. John XXIII had read the message, kept it a secret, and very likely had sent his emissaries to Simeon Toko with a sinking feeling in his heart.

Simeon Toko responded: “I am amazed that a high-ranking person like the Pope is interested enough about me to make you travel 8,000 kilometers just to see me. The answer that you should give your master for me is in the biblical scripture, Matthew 11:2-6.”

Let's now put ourselves in Pope John XXIII's shoes as he read the text suggested by Toko:

And now, when John had heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said unto him: Are thou he that should come, or do we look for another? Jesus answered and said unto them: Go and show John again those things which ye hear and see: the blind receive their sight and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up and the poor have the gospel preached to them. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me.
(Matthew 11:2-6)

Using a brief biblical quotation, Simeon Toko gave Pope John XXIII to understand that what the Pope had found in the note written by Lucia dos Santos was true. Indeed the former Cardinal Roncalli could have picked any name as Pope, but he chose “John,” so that now the scripture in Matthew that Simeon Toko sent him to read addressed him directly by name.

Fearing who it was who was now living among the most disdained people on Earth, the Pope contacted the Portuguese dictator, Antonio de Salazar. On 18 July 1962, Simeon Toko was again arrested and deported; this time, not to some isolated corner in his native Angola but to Portugal -- where his anticipated birth had been announced in 1917 in Fatima. [Tom Dark notes: tokoists contend that the true Third Secret of Fatima was in fact an announcement that Christ had returned to Earth, in the form of Simeon Toko.]

For Toko's deportation to Portugal, a Portuguese Air Force plane was waiting for him. The plane had state-of-the-art telecommunication and navigation systems. In the plane sat a Catholic priest and members of Salazar's secret police, the PIDE-DGS, including the pilot and co-pilot. Their mission was to fly out over the Atlantic Ocean and, after about an hour's distance, push Simeon Toko out of the plane into the deep sea. This was the same inhuman treatment that the Argentinian military used years later against their political opponents. Supposedly the Catholic priest was brought along on the plane to counteract the magic powers of the African through praying. But this skillfully planned project was about to backfire.

The moment the PIDE agents rose to subdue him and carry out their murder, Simeon Toko stood and ordered the plane to stop. The aircraft stopped in mid-air! It stood still, not advancing an inch nor rising or falling backwards. The crew was stricken by panic. The priest could hardly breathe, and hoarsely huffed out desperate prayers. They all started imploring the preto [Portuguese denigratory term denoting “nigger”] for mercy. Simeon lifted his eyes and hands toward the heavens and after a short prayer he ordered the plane to move again. At once, the plane started moving.

Simeon Toko related this story himself. For those who are sceptical, we would remind you that the authority of our sciences does not determine all that is possible on Earth or in Heaven. This same Personality stopped a storm on a sea for a group of terrified fishermen 2,000 years ago. He also walked across the surface of the water and inspired the Sun to weave and dance gaily at Fatima.

Simeon Survives an Morbid Experiment

As an “exiled political prisoner,” Simeon Toko was deprived of all human rights. We describe here one of the many murder attempts upon his body during his forced stay in Ponta Delgada, in the Archipelago of the Azores. He was assigned the chore of maintaining a lighthouse there. At a future date, we will publish a record of miracles performed by Simeon Toko, which were seen by eyewitnesses.

Dona Laurinda Zaza is a vate

[pronounced "vah-tay"] -- a sort of prophetic trance medium -- for present-day Toko followers. She experienced the following event as she saw it happen to Tio Simao (a nickname meaning "Uncle Simon") while he was in exile in Portugal. Simeon Toko confirmed the fact of this event later, and revealed the physical damage that the doctors had done. Over the years, thousands of people saw this scarring on his chest. "You could almost see Toko's heart pounding in his chest through the scar; an almost unbearable sight," Dona Laurinda said.

This referred to a most remarkable attempt by these astonishingly misguided men to kill Simeon Toko under dictator Antonio de Salazar's orders. This attempt, which would have been "first degree murder" if the victim were anyone else, took place shortly before his return to freedom in July 1974. [Tom Dark notes: Simeon Toko was not released by Salazar; the dictator was unseated by a revolution and Simeon was released in a general amnesty of political prisoners.]

A Portuguese doctor had been reading records about Toko's alleged "invincibility" and invited several doctors from around Europe to perform an operation on him -- an autopsy, under the pretext of removing a tumour from his chest. The doctors had him taken to a local civilian hospital. They put him on an operating table, cut a jagged, mortal wound in the left side of the center of his chest, reached into his chest cavity and pulled out his still beating heart. The aorta and other arteries were severed by a scalpel and his heart was removed. Simeon lay dead, his body covered with the warm blood that splashed out of his heart and chest.

The doctors dumped Simeon Toko's heart in a metal pan and took it to a laboratory in another room. They ran various tests on it -- expecting to find what, they did not know. The gadgets and microscopes and probings showed there was nothing physically extraordinary or abnormal about Simeon Toko's heart. The doctors concluded that this purloined organ would not have been the source of his invulnerability -- if it can be said that men can make conclusions about any such thing.

The doctors had unquestion-ably killed this man in this macabre experiment, but to their horror and bewilderment, Simeon Toko came to on the operating table! His heartless corpse was moving of its own volition. He opened his eyes, sat up and looked at them, the chest wound by which they had casually murdered him gaping open. "Why are you persecuting me this way?" he said to them. "Give me back my heart!"

[Tom Dark notes: If there are medical records available to confirm this event independently, I do not have them now but would like to see them. All of us involved in this project here in the US consider ourselves "doubting Thomases," to say the least, yet the stories of witnesses and followers have kept our fascination.]

For now we will refrain from reporting many other significant events that happened that same day. We can let you know, however, that the exact time his heart was taken from him, Simeon Toko decided to give a finishing blow to Portuguese colonial power and rule over Angola. He returned to his native country of Angola on 31 August 1974, with the confidence his words would be fulfilled. A year later, on 11 November 1975, Angola gained its independence from Portugal.

A Departure by Choice

During the night of 31 December 1983 to 1 January 1984, when the death of Simeon Toko was announced by the media, thunderclaps of virtually seismic force and torrential rain burst the skies of Luanda. It had not rained in this area for several years. Meteorologists were mystified. For three days rain fell continuously. The occurrence of this event was attributed to all the rumors surrounding the death of this great prophet.

A certain politician was recognized as one of the toughest men surrounding Neto, President of the Republic of Angola. He was often called upon for delicate and confidential missions. The Portuguese, whom he fought during a 14-year war for the liberation of his country, had a good deal to say about him. His name aroused dread and awe. He led a resistance group specializing in chopping heads with catanas (machetes). This man was one of President Neto's army officers. His name was Comandante Paiva.

After hearing the news that Simeon Toko had died, Paiva rushed to where the body lay exposed for public viewing. He fought his way through the crowd of tens of thousands of people. He was astonished at the sight of it. He stood looking at Simeon's body, and he asked to speak. He declared: "It is not true that Simeon Toko is dead, because he is invulnerable!"

To make such a public confession was blatantly incriminating. Seven years before, Comandante Paiva had orders to kill Simeon Toko once and for all. He told the public that this is what he and his men had done. He had Simeon Toko kidnapped and taken to a secret location; once there, he butchered him methodically, like a meat packer with an animal carcass; he severed Simeon's head, then his arms and legs, then split his chest and abdomen apart. He stuffed the butchered corpse into a large bag, tied the top with a string and hid it in a certain location. After three days, he brought helpers back to get the bag and take it to the ocean to throw to the sharks.

By now the bag had disappeared. The men began to argue about its whereabouts. Suddenly, in the midst of their bickering about who may have moved it, a voice they described as sounding like "the sounds of many waters" (Revelation 1:15) overshadowed their own voices: "Who are you looking for? I am here!" It was Simeon Toko, in flesh and bone, alive, standing majestically. The men dashed away shouting "E o Deus, e o Deus!", which means, "He is God, He is God!"

Paiva's butchering had been the last time that anybody dared to touch a single hair on the head of Simeon Toko. And now that Simeon's body lay discarded by its owner, by choice, Paiva refused

A. In short, "9-11" is the title, the "Unholy War on Terrorism" is the subtitle. On September 11, when the attack happened, my album had come out on the same day. I was scheduled to do interviews, signings, and none of that happened. My music sat for over 2 months.

In those 2 months, I paid very close and strict attention to what was going on. In knowing the history of CIA covert operations around the globe, I knew they were lying.

I started putting together different documents so that when I did do the interviews, I'd have all my documentation together. The interviews never happened! So, I went to the community and contacted a couple sisters and brothers that opened their doors to me, and I started to piece this lecture together on the unholy war on terrorism.

Quick synopsis: I covered how George Bush stole the presidency; I covered the CIA covert operations throughout the globe; the trail of drug money and war for profits. I talked about how each president has to create an enemy in order to get money from the taxpayers. I lay it out in such a way that anyone can get the information, either on the internet or in a newspaper.

Basically, that's what the lecture is all about. This is a war manufactured and contrived by the CIA, KGB, MOSSAD and intelligence forces operating here in the US. And the president, as Cynthia McKinney alluded to, probably had prior knowledge. All these things I lay out.

Q. We hear that Public Enemy has an album coming out in July called, "Revolvolution." What other projects do any of you have in the works that you want to mention?

A. Chuck has a label, Slam Jam, where he promotes up-and-coming new artists, (www.slamjamz.com). Flav-a-flav is working on a solo project, my solo project was released September 11, 2001 last year.

The new project I'm working on is a children's project. Basically, I lay out a method and give parents a tool to reach the youth, educators, people who work with young people.

We want to tap into the education system, we want to reach the YMCA, the Boys Club of America, private schools, after school programs, rites of passage programs, and give them a tool that they can work with via hip-hop (www.kidsbiz.com).

We want to raise the conscious level of teachers because our job is to teach the youth and we're failing. So, this project is going to be a heavy task, teaching grown people that we have to teach the youth. To educe, from the latin educo - to draw out that which is within. It's not something you put into a person, it's something you draw out of what God has already deposited.

But you need a program. Every young person listens to music. Music is universal, birds singing is universal language, the rhythm of the ocean waves is universal. We will use music to speak to educate our youth.

This is not a self centered thing to make Prof. Griff famous or wealthy. When you have something in your life that keeps you awake at night, because something is on your mind, you have to act on it.

I have a deep seated love for black folks. I want to see us come up out of this. If I pass on tomorrow and the ancestors accept me, I would like for people to remember me as, "That brother who was truly for the revolution." I am for a mind revolution, a physical revolution, a complete constructive cosmic change. ▲

Would Americans Attack Americans?

Excerpted from "An Overview of the War on Terrorism"
by JIM MARRS

The WTC/Pentagon attacks provided a convenient excuse to launch the pre-laid plans for military action against Afghanistan. But were they simply allowed to happen or were they contrived?

The question becomes: Would any American allow an attack on fellow Americans just to further his own business or political agenda?

The answer, unfortunately, appears to be "Yes."

Incredibly, 40-year-old government documents thought to have been destroyed long ago recently were made public show the US military in the early 1960's proposed making terrorist attacks in the United States and blaming them on Fidel Castro.

These documents are discussed in a recent book on the National Security Agency (NSA) entitled "Body of Secrets: Anatomy of the Ultra-Secret National Security Agency" by James Bamford.

These documents were produced beginning in late 1961 following the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba that spring. President John F. Kennedy, angered by the inept actions of the CIA, had shifted responsibility for Cuba from that agency to the Department of Defense. Here, military strategists considered plans to create terrorist actions which would alarm the American population and stampede them into supporting a military attack on Cuba.

Under consideration in "Operation Northwoods" were plans:

"Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that."

"Those who do not learn from history are doomed to repeat it."
— Philosopher George Santayana

"We are not afraid to entrust the American people with unpleasant facts, foreign ideas, alien philosophies and competitive values. For a nation that is afraid to let its people judge the truth and falsehood in an open market is a nation that is afraid of its people."
— President John F. Kennedy

ordinated incidents" in or around the US Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to include inciting riots, blowing up ammunition stores, aircraft and ships.

- to "develop a Communist Cuba terror campaign in the Miami area, in other Florida cities and even in Washington."

- to "sink a boatload of Cubans en route to Florida (real or simulated)..foster attempts on the lives of Cuban refugees in the United States."

- to explode bombs in carefully chosen locations along with the release of "prepared documents" pointing to Cuban complicity.

- to use fake Russian aircraft to harass civilian airliners.

- to make "Hijacking attempts against civil air and surface craft" even to simulating the shooting down of a civilian airliner.

Kennedy rejected Operation Northwoods and senior military officers ordered the documents destroyed. But someone slipped up and the papers were discovered by the Assassination Records Review Board and recently released by the National Archives.

More recently, according to The New York Times (October 28, 1993), an informant named Emad Salem early in 1993 was involved with Middle Eastern terrorists connected to Osama bin Laden to develop a bomb for use against New York's World Trade Center. Salem, a former Egyptian Army officer, wanted to substitute a harmless powder for the explosive but his plan to thwart the attack was blocked by an FBI official who apparently did not want to expose the inside informant. The attack was allowed to proceed.

The February 26 explosion in the WTC resulted in six deaths, more than 1,000 casualties and damage in excess of half billion dollars.

We now see that creating crises to further political goals is a methodology well understood and utilized in the 20th century. Is this the game today? Let's examine the Sept. 11 attack.

QUESTIONS OVER 9-11

Superficially, it all seemed straightforward enough. According to the official story, about 19 suicidal Middle Eastern terrorists, their hearts full of hatred for American freedom and democracy, hijacked four airliners, crashing two into the twin towers of New York City's World Trade Center and a third into the Pentagon. The fourth reportedly crashed in western Pennsylvania after passengers attempted to fight the terrorists.

But a series of disturbing questions have arisen. Among them:

- Why was the US military preparing war plans against Afghanistan months before the Sept. 11 attacks? Were they just looking for some event to propel the normally disinterested American public into a war as in the past?

- How could paper documents incriminating bin Laden be found intact at the WTC but the plane's black recording boxes designed to withstand crashes were damaged beyond use?

- Even days and weeks after the WTC attack, why were news cameramen prevented from photographing the ruins from certain angles, as complained about by CBS Correspondent Lou Young, who asked, "What are they afraid we're going to see?"

- Why has the NYPD liaison to the FBI been sent packing as a "security risk" as reported in the Oct. 16 New York Times? Whose security is at risk? The FBI? What is it that the bureau does not want NYPD to know?

- How could an obviously sophisticated terrorist plan involving perhaps as many as 100 persons and in the works for five years escape the notice of our intelligence services, especially the FBI and CIA? And why, instead of cashiering those responsible for this intelligence failure and totally restructuring these agencies, are we doubling their budgets? Will we now get twice as much failure as before?

- Why did the South Tower collapse first when it was not as extensively damaged as the North Tower which burned for almost an hour and a half before collapsing?

This new form of "white collar" crime, designed to prompt legislation and the defense and security industries, was the subject of the doctor's prophetically titled thirteenth book, Death in the Air: Globalism, Terrorism and Toxic Warfare. The book arrived on store shelves three months before the airborne anthrax attack on Sept. 11 hijackings.

On October 1, 2001, the Harvard graduate award-winning author hand delivered a copy of his text to the FBI, followed by a series of written reports currently archived on his publisher's website. All the evidence he presented suggested a broad conspiracy. The first anthrax mailings was announced to have struck American Media, Inc. building in South Florida one week later.

The intelligence cited in the book, followed by news programs in which drug companies seeking lucrative contracts had apparently influenced news producers' glowing reports on their products, including the now widely debunked anthrax antibiotic Cipro, and poorly-tested anthrax vaccine, prompted the doctor to contact the FBI. ▲

Promis to his Russian handlers who passed it along to bin Laden? Does this software, which was stolen from a US company during the Reagan Administration by Justice Department officials under Attorney General Ed Meese, allow outsiders carte blanche entrée to our top security computers? (Hanssen's last job before being arrested as a spy was to upgrade the FBI's intelligence computer systems.)

• If United Flight 93 crashed as the result of a struggle between heroic passengers and the hijackers, why did witnesses tell of a second plane which followed it down, falling burning debris, no deep crater and crash wreckage spread over a six-mile area indicative of an aerial explosion?

• Why did news outlets describe the throat-cutting and mutilation of passengers on Flight 93 with box cutters when Time magazine on Sept. 24 reported that one of the passengers called home on a cell phone to report, "We have been hijacked. They are being kind."?

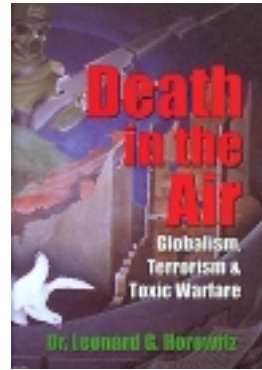

As Internet pundit Gary North stated, "We need a theory of the coordinated hijackings that rests on a plausible cause-and-effect sequence that does not assume the complete failure of both check-in procedures and the on-board seating procedures on four separate flights on two separate airlines. I don't see how anyone can make an accurate judgment about who was behind the attacks until he has a plausible explanation of how hijackers got onto the planes and were not removed."

But the federal government aided by a sycophantic mass media did not allow such rational thinking to interfere with a rush to judgment that Osama bin Laden was the culprit behind the attacks.

Death in the Air Globalism, Terrorism & Toxic Warfare

Death in the Air is intensely researched and referenced. It removes any doubts that we are the victims of a global conspiracy that intends to kill millions of people slowly, painfully, and expensively through the multi-directional delivery of chronic diseases.

DEAAIR $29.95

• Why did many witnesses claim to hear further explosions within the buildings? And why did the destruction of the WTC towers appear more like a controlled implosion than a tragic accident?

• Why did FBI Director Robert Mueller acknowledge that the list of named hijackers might not contain their real names? Doesn't everyone have to show a photo ID to claim a boarding pass? Where was the normal security?

• Why was there a discrepancy of 35 names between the published passenger lists and the official death toll on all four of the ill-fated flights? Internet Columnist Gary North reported, "the published names in no instance match the total listed for the number of people on board." Why the discrepancy?

• As none of these listed passengers had an Arabic-sounding names, how did the government know which were the hijackers?

• Why did the seat numbers of the hijackers given by a cell phone call from Flight Attendant Madeline Amy Sweeney to Boston air traffic control not match the seats occupied by the men the FBI claimed were responsible?

• Since Saudi Arabia's foreign minister claimed five of the proclaimed hijackers were not aboard the death planes and in fact are still alive and a sixth man on that list was reported to be alive and well in Tunisia, why are these names still on the FBI list?

• Why were none of the named hijacker's names on any of the passenger list? If they all used aliases, how did the FBI identify them so quickly?

• Why did one of the named hijackers take luggage on a suicide flight, then leave it along with an incriminating note in his car at the airport?

• As for the overall investigation into the September attacks, by late October U.S. authorities conceded that most of their promising leads for finding accomplices and some of their long-held suspicions about several suspects have unraveled, according to The New York Times. Since more than 800 people have been arrested and more than 365,000 tips have been received from the public, why has nothing substantial has been forthcoming in the largest U.S. criminal investigation in history?

• Why are none of the nearly 100 people still being sought by the Federal Bureau of Investigation seen as a major suspect?

• Why are we bombing Afghanistan when apparently none of the listed hijackers were Afghans, but instead Arabs from various Middle Eastern nations? Since Iraq was implicated in the 1993 WTC attack, why are we not bombing that "rogue" nation?

• Why does the heavy drinking and searching for hookers by some of the hijackers in Boston, as reported by Reuters New Service, sound more like mercenaries carousing before a mission than pious religious fundamentalists about to meet their maker?

• How did the terrorists obtain top-secret White House and Air Force One codes and signals, the excuse for hustling President Bush all across the country on Sept. 11? Was this evidence of an inside job or was it, as reported by Fox News, evidence that former FBI employee and double agent Robert Hanssen delivered an updated version of the purloined computer software
